President Barack Obama
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President:

We write to urge you to take swift action to address the vacancies of permanent Inspectors General (IGs) in the federal government. At present, we understand there are seven vacancies of Presidential-appointed IGs and three vacancies of agency-appointed IGs. As you know, the absence of permanent, Senate-confirmed or agency-appointed IGs in these positions impedes the ability of these offices to identify and expose waste, fraud, and abuse in the federal government. In addition, acting IGs in these roles create the potential for conflicts of interest, diminish independent IG oversight, and cause instability for IG offices.

The Inspector General Act established IGs to “promote economy, efficiency, and effectiveness in the administration of, and . . . to prevent and detect fraud and abuse in” programs and operations of the government.\(^1\) Permanent leadership in IG offices is vital for guaranteeing IG independence, promoting transparency and accountability in government operations, and ensuring that federal taxpayer dollars are well spent.

According to our information, the current vacancies of Presidential-appointed IG positions are the Department of the Interior, the Agency for International Development, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Department of Veterans Affairs, the General Services Administration, the Export-Import Bank of the United States, and the Central Intelligence Agency. Only two nominations are currently pending before the Senate for these vacancies.

The current vacancies of agency-appointed IG positions are the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, the Denali Commission, and the Federal Trade Commission.

We respectfully request that you move expeditiously to nominate permanent IGs for the Presidential-appointed positions and ask your agency heads to do the same. In January 2013, sixteen Senators from this Committee wrote to you requesting prompt action to fill then-pending IG vacancies.\(^2\) As then, we stand ready to work with you and the Council of the Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency (CIGIE) to identify qualified and capable candidates for these positions.
